He always asks the class if everyone understands before moving on. Tough exams, but very clear expectations and he gives topics of questions prior. Truly wants his students to learn and succeed.

He gave extra credit assignments (let us choose between ec or curve) and was very lenient with due dates. Quizzes and tests he would give you the questions beforehand.

I think he is a great teacher, very patient and offers extra credit. He had a slight accent problem with his lectures, but it wasn't particularly distracting.

The professor is chill, and he was reasonably accommodating when I got sick and couldn't finish an assignment on time. His slides and the example problems on them were very helpful for the HW and likewise the quiz/exams. However, some of the hw answer keys were incorrect and he grades slowly so it was hard to track my performance in the course.

He gives so many assignments and group projects where you are given such a little time to finish the assignment. The workload is very hectic especially at the end of the semester. You are expected to self-learn for the project. I don't understand if we have to learn ourselves what is the point of taking this class.
